The Remedial Classes helps students to get overview of the paper they are studying during the semester and also help them obtain the knowledge needed to develop a portfolio for their studies. While ensuring academic excellence through the curriculum of the paper, every staff member in every school, aims to integrate different teaching methodologies in their respective course work. Each staff member begins the academic year with one-week of Foundation Classes and ends the semester with Remedial Classes. Besides offering staff and peer support, reading material is provided and library work rounds off the course. The emphasis is on quantitative papers and other papers which are relatively difficult for students. Remedial Classes provide students with a reassuring and supportive learning environment. Remedial Classes in every School help identify students' problem areas and guide them effectively towards progress and improvement. Foundation Classes are help during regular class hours. Remedial Classes are held after the regular class hours.

Guidelines for Conducting Remedial Classes as per SJU

- 1) The remedial classes can be conducted for backlog courses as well as regular courses.
- 2) The students who failed or scored less than 40% marks in last regular examination (for backlog courses) and mid-terms exams (for regular courses) shall be considered as academically challenged students. However, other students may also be permitted.
- 3) The remedial classes may be offered for entire curriculum or specific modules depending on analysis done with the help of google forms.
- 4) Remedial classes may either be conducted by faculty teaching course or by students which are academically sound and have interest in helping and teaching fellow classmates
- 5) Remedial classes shall be conducted without affecting the regular classroom timings (Academic calendar). It should be in offline mode.
- 6) The students should be examined regularly with the help of class tests to see the progress in the performance.
- 7) At the end of course, the student's feedback (anonymous) will be taken to see if the students are actually satisfied with these classes
- 8) The faculty will record all the data such as attendance, course materials provided, students' feedback, extent of academic improvement in the students' performance, etc.

Streaming

The Department of English offers a streamed support system for students entering the undergraduate degree since there is great heterogeneity in the intake. Thus, students who take General English are streamed through a diagnostic test in the first week of the first semester. This arrangement results in classes where students are grouped according to the writing difficulties that they seem to have. While streaming may seem discriminatory at first, it is usually followed by a conversation around the fact that everybody has a range of difficulties with writing, and that streaming thus becomes a more efficient way of targeting these difficulties.

The streamed classes run for the first two semesters. In these classes, the students are trained to move away from content recall to creative production. The focus is on connecting reading and writing to lived experience, and on learning to use the English language in a reflective way, so as to give each student a sense of ownership over writing and thinking critically.

Following this, the students are free to choose between either a Regular or a Special course in English in the third and fourth semesters. The Regular course has a set number of reading and writing tasks, while the Special course usually offers a greater number of reading and writing tasks, built around the English Across the Curriculum approach. This means that the Science student encounters the programme domain, whether Science, Social Sciences or Commerce, through focuses such as their history, debates and controversies in such domains, frontier areas, and public communication in each of these areas of interest.

By the end of the second semester, the average student is able to think on their feet and produce an effective response on the fly, or impromptu, due to the practice with discussion and writing immediately. They also develop a broader interest in reading about sciences or social sciences through debates that arise in the texts read, or indeed, in the classroom. The streaming system is applied every year to the entire intake, roughly 2900 students in 2022.

Oxford Tutorial System

The Department also offers first year students support in academic progression with core courses such as Optional English, Communicative English, Journalism, and Theatre Studies at the entry stage. This is an arrangement modelled on the Oxford Tutorial system in which students are assigned to a tutor who provides academic guidance through fortnightly meetings where the approach can vary from small group interactions to one-on-one advice and feedback. The tutor is usually a teacher from the department.

We find this approach useful in both the first year of the undergraduate as well as the postgraduate courses because it equips students who enter these courses from heterogeneous backgrounds a sustained support mechanism while they get used to the system and its requirements. MA students are allowed to continue working with a tutor in the second year. BA students may continue with tutoring in the second year provided the tutor has free time, and is able to oblige. The tutor system is currently offered to 112 students in the PG category, and to about 400 students in the I year.

Annexure 3

Financial Aid

Management Scholarship

The University has taken several steps to ensure equal opportunity for all students to thrive, irrespective of social or economic status. Financial support is given to students from economically underprivileged backgrounds. Students are encouraged to avail of government scholarships and awareness programmes are conducted to ensure that students are well-informed about the various scholarships available and the process for availing of the same. In addition, the management also offers scholarships to many students. In some cases, a substantial part of the fee is waived. SC/ST students are provided access to four books per semester from the Book Bank. University provides a Mid-Day Meal Scheme for the benefit of students from underprivileged backgrounds.

The Scholarship and Freeships given to students during the year 2021-2022 is attached. For the year 2022-2023 would be given in the month of January 2023.

so on) where some facilitators would be identified who would be trained by our faculty, and these facilitators would, in turn teach the students there. Fr Victor added that the pass percentage of the ACCA course at SJU was the highest and had also overtaken the country's ACCA pass percentage.

- Dr Madeshwaran supported having interdisciplinary courses within the social sciences and also interdisciplinary between social science and science. Dr Grace responded that this approach was already incorporated. Dr Prabhakar responded that SJU offered the following: Basics of Environmental Science in the first semester, Environmental Economics in the second semester, Geoinformatics and Remote Sensing, Environmental Social Governance, Corporate Responsibility, Environmental Health and a dissertation in the third semester and working with the consultant company for the whole of the fourth semester. He greatly appreciated the students of SJU who were interns at Institute for Social and Economic Change (ISEC) and stated that SJU was welcome to send more interns to ISEC. He suggested that SJU sign an MOU with ISEC.
- Prof Vanamala enquired what challenges the School of Physical Sciences was experiencing with regard to the decreasing demand for a degree in pure sciences. Dr Rabbi responded that NEP was not very suitable from the perspective of science. He cited the example of the Open Elective - Chemistry, Physics, wherein Physics was handicapped without Mathematics. Dr Madeshwaran suggested that postgraduate students needed to be motivated and made aware that Applied Statistics was as important as the theory part as Statistics was an important tool for evidence-based policy making. Dr Rabbi responded that the same was recommended by the BOS of the Dept of Statistics; therefore, teaching and evaluation methods were going to be practical-oriented.
- Prof Vanamala found the OE - Culinary Chemistry paper to be an interesting one and endorsed the idea. Dr Shobha responded that this OE was for the 3rd semester PG non-chemistry students to show them that Chemistry was not that hard, it was actually interesting and could even be seen all around us in our daily lives, and to encourage students to connect life,

It was also clarified that students should not be criminalised but rather preventive and reformatory measures should be in place, such as discussions with students in the classes. Therefore, only the registration numbers and not the names were to be mentioned in the document from the next time onward. Action Taken: All instructions to prevent malpractice are printed on the envelopes in which question papers are packed. Invigilators are required to read the instructions and sign. To confirm that the instructions are read, two student signatures are also taken. | | | Ref: AC 3.8 1. School of Communication & Media Studies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To include a recent film – Daredevil Mustafa, a crowdfunded film, in the BVoc Visual Media and Filmmaking case study. • To avoid words such as 'failure of education' in the syllabus. • To include Recommendations of the Press Commission under Media Law and Ethics instead of only having Press Commissions, which might be too long and outdated for students. • To change Misrepresented and Misled Advertising to 'Misrepresentation and Misleading Advertising'. • To consider including the Nirma case study and the works of C K Prahlad in rural marketing. • To consider sending students for fieldwork to Tamil Nadu. Action Taken: All the suggestions have been incorporated except the last one i.e. to consider sending students for fieldwork to Tamil Nadu, as it was not possible due to limited time. 2. School of Physical Sciences: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It was suggested that the School of Physical Sciences changed 'reputable institution' to 'UGC-approved institution' under the review of the eligibility criteria for admissions to Undergraduate and Postgraduate Programmes concerning the Department of Mathematics. Action Taken: The School of Physical Sciences organised visits by some schools like Bishop Cotton Boys' School, Loyola School etc. to our university and arranged for short lectures. The School took the lead in organising Elixir-2023, the first Open Day of SJU. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The School of Physical Sciences proposed conducting summer programmes for school children. Some eminent teachers had already been identified and this programme would be in line with the Planetarium's programme called "Reap". Action Taken: This year the proposed summer lecture programme may not materialise as the school summer vacation does not match with our summer break. |

|--|--|--|
| | | 3. School of Life Sciences: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> It was suggested that the Departments under the School of Life Sciences got together and started revising the syllabus wherever possible to avoid the overlapping of topics between the departments. Action Taken: The Departments of the Life Sciences will convene and do the needful after the last teaching day of this academic year. A staff member from each department under the School of Life Sciences is looking into the Biology Syllabus. 4. School of Languages and Literatures: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> To introduce "History of Journalism" as the first paper in the Journalism syllabus before the paper "Introduction to Journalism". Action Taken: Under the double major scheme, Journalism has one paper per semester with theory and practical components. The Semester I paper has a theory component comprising a History module of 30 hours, a Readings in journalism module of 15 hours, and a basic writing skills module of 15 hours. The paper performs several introductory functions thus. The Practicum continues this function through training in reporting and news gathering, while also introducing structures like inverted pyramid and hourglass. To make the topic/title 'History of Journalism Abroad' more specific so that students understand better whether it deals with British journalism or American journalism etc. Action Taken: The suggestion to indicate British and American Journalism more clearly has been incorporated. Journalistic Writing could precede Creative Writing in the syllabus. Action Taken: In Semester I, the student encounters creative writing as a classroom activity while journalistic writing is part of the practicum leading to portfolio work. Both are needed since most students do not have any training in writing. The advantage of having journalistic writing in the labs is that teachers work with smaller groups of students, ensuring greater individual attention, and more practice. The 5th semester, Digital Media could be included along with the topic – Contrasting Print Media with Television and Cinema. |

| | | Action Taken: We have expanded the Media Management and Practice section to two semesters, thus including digital and independent media. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Section 66A (of the IT Act) could be retained for discussion purposes. However, it had been scrapped (declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court). Action Taken: The 66-A instance is retained for discussion purposes and also to draw attention to Shreya Singhal's challenge to the government. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> To include important stories that were key to the beginning of Investigative Journalism in the 1980s like Bhagalpur Blindings, the Kamala story, the Tihar Jail story and so on. Action Taken: The suggestion to include historically important pieces of investigative journalism from India has been accepted. It takes the form of case studies in the syllabus. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Instead of having Advanced Journalism 1 and Advanced Journalism 2, there could be two different titles to bring more variety to the syllabus. Media Practice and Ethics 1 and 2 could be a single paper instead of a repetition of the word "ethics" in the titles. Action Taken: Advanced Journalism is retained for purposes of continuity since we range across media management, ideology and media, and the historicising of specific genres such as investigative and business journalism. Media Practices and Ethics also develops ideas across two semesters through discussions and case studies. This allows for greater attention to nuances and specific cases. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> In Environmental Journalism, the aspect of climate change needed more focus and two important books could be considered - "Environment, Politics and Activism: The Role of Media" by Somnath Barabhyal and "Media Construction of Environment and Sustainability" by Priti Nambiar. Action Taken: The Climate Change section has been expanded, and the suggestions made have been included in the reading list. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> To include Max Horkheimer in the topic "Culture Industry" and not just Theodor Adorno and to include Edward Herman as the first author of Manufacturing Consent followed by Noam Chomsky. |

| | | Action Taken: The necessary corrections have been made. It was resolved to approve the Action Taken Report on the minutes of the 3rd Academic Council Meeting held on 31 October 2023. Proposed by Dr Uday Kumar Ranga, seconded by Fr Maxim Dias SJ and unanimously passed by the Council. |

The Vice-Chancellor requested the Dean of the School of Physical Sciences to do a study on the reasons for the failures in Electronics and the possible solutions and present a report on the same to the Vice-Chancellor. |

| | | The COE also presented the malpractice report. It was resolved to approve the malpractice report as placed before the members on pages 38 to 114. Proposed by Ms Amita Priyadarshini, seconded by Dr Raisa D'Souza and unanimously passed by the Council. |
| AC 4.9 | To consider and approve the recommendations and syllabi of the Board of Studies of various Departments of the University | All the Deans presented the recommendations and syllabi of the Board of Studies of various Departments of the University. 4.9 (a) The following suggestions were made to the School of Communication and Media Studies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The term 'libel' could be avoided as the terms libel and slander did not exist in Indian Law but defamation was categorised as either written or spoken. • In the paper 'Key Concepts of Economics' Unit 6-Overview of Thoughts from Adam Smith to Karl Marx, not mentioning these names would be better for students. Specify the thinkers, instead of leaving it wide open from Smith to Marx. • To touch upon governance while covering socio-economic factors in media. The response to the suggestion was that it would be discussed in the next Board of Studies. 4.9 (b) In the context of the changes made in the syllabus of ordinary differential equations and the inclusion of more motivating examples, the Department of Mathematics was asked what these examples were. The response given was that more real-life practical examples were included such as mechanics, colour patterns in fish and so on. In the context of the inclusion of the common collector as a buffer amplifier in the Electronics syllabus, clarity was sought whether the topic was previously not taught at all or the word 'buffer amplifier' was previously not being mentioned. The response was that earlier only the common emitter amplifier was taught but later it was decided that since the common collector amplifier was used in all communication circuits and mentioning only the word buffer would lead to doubts on what kind of buffer it was, it would be better to call it 'common collector as a buffer amplifier'. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The reason for the deletion of Colpitts/Hartley's oscillator frequency derivation was asked. The response was that it was deleted to avoid having too many derivations especially since students such as those of Electronics and Computer Science did not have a background in Mathematics. It was suggested to consider making it compulsory for students of programmes with Electronics to have a Mathematics background. |

|--|---|
| | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It was suggested to give PG Statistics students some exposure to applied statistics, how to derive, and draw inferences, and training to use Statistics and to involve some faculty of Economics to teach Applied Statistics with topics like how to analyse socio-economic behaviour. The School was also asked if it offered any open elective courses to non-science students. The response was that the Department of Statistics did have an OE course and most departments offered at least one or two OE courses to encourage participation of students across schools. 4.9 (c) The School of Life Sciences was asked the reason for including a general topic like 'Science Policy Making' in the Open Elective courses under the Department of Biotechnology. The response was that these topics were identified for being offered for Open Elective courses and the syllabus was still being made. These OE courses were being offered for the benefit of non-Biotechnology students and since someone eventually would have to make the effort to introduce such topics, the Department decided to initiate it. The School was appreciated for introducing an internship component in the 4th semester of Botany programmes and was asked how the Department would evaluate this since it was not always easy for students to get internship opportunities and labs. The response was that although the Botany course had started in 1986, it did not have the internship component, which was seen as a drawback as students were not exposed to the industry and labs. Most students managed to find internships and the few who did not were allowed to work in the University's lab under the guidance of some faculty members. The School was asked if the Biology syllabus covered important topics like Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning, and so on to which the response was that the current syllabus was under the NEP but the committee working on revising the new Biology syllabus would consider these topics. It was also enquired whether there was a scope for having a certificate course in food and nutrition with more importance given to nutrition as proper nutrition helps prevent diseases. The response was that such a certificate course was being conducted since 2013 and it had a lot of demand among students from both science and non-science backgrounds. Accordingly, the syllabus was divided into hardcore food science, food chemistry and food microbiology. Apart from the departmental elective, these concepts of food and nutrition were also included in all the 3 semesters of their MSc programme. The Departments of Biochemistry and Chemistry too were offering OE courses like We Are What We Eat, which covered topics like the basics of nutrition and healthy living, the importance of a well-balanced diet, sleep and exercise, kitchen chemistry and so on. |

| | | 4.9 (d) The School of Chemical Sciences was asked how the syllabus would be formulated for new types of courses like Uses and Abuses of Drugs, Poisons, and Toxins. The response was that the syllabus had already been drafted and shared. This was an OE course being offered to all students including Arts and Commerce students to spread awareness on matters like how much of a drug can be consumed, why certain drugs were over-the-counter, why drugs should not be mixed with alcohol and so on. 4.9 (e) The School of Languages and Literatures was suggested to introduce a course like English for Technical Writing to enable PhD students to write well as the University offered many PhD programmes. 4.9 (f) The members insisted that for the award of the degree of PhD, the minimum requirement of 2 papers of conference presentations and 2 published papers in peer-reviewed journals should not be rescinded. It was resolved to approve the recommendations and syllabi of the Board of Studies of All the Schools. Proposed by Dr Reji Philip, seconded by Dr Raisa D'Souza and unanimously passed by the Council. |

It was suggested to introduce MSc Applied Statistics. It was also suggested that students of MSc Statistics be encouraged to prepare themselves and compete for the IAS positions to ensure having more IAS Officers/Bureaucrats from the South of India. Dr S Madheswaran volunteered to help with this process by enquiring with Universities like the University of Rajasthan, the University of Lucknow and Universities in UP about how they conducted their programmes to prepare such students for IAS. |
